CITY PAVING CELEBRATION GOES OVER BIG

CHRISTIANSON AND C. A. FORBES IN SPEAKING ROLES

GOVERNOR THEODORE CHRISTIANSON IS MET WITH APPLAUSE BY HUGE CROWD

MR. OFFICIAL AND MR. CITIZEN GATHER TO CELEBRATE PAVING ACHIEVEMENT

C. A. Forbes, representing the Minnesota Highway Department in the absence of Commissioner of Highways C. M. Babcock, and recognized as one of the foremost authorities on highways in the state, this afternoon was one of the principal speakers of the paving celebration program at the new State Highway Department building on West Laurel street which was packed to the doors with Brainerd citizens, visiting delegations, mayors from a number of cities, Gov. Theodore Christianson, officials of the State Highway Department and others.

Mr. Forbes' talk complete is as follows:

"Nothing better exemplifies the far-sightedness and enterprise of any state than the condition of its roadways. There has been tremendous development in the majority of the states in this respect in recent years, and the use of the automobile has been and is the universal prod that compelled this constant activity. The United States Government and the various states co-operate in this necessary work and men of attainment as engineers and forward-looking public spirited men in every locality unite in their efforts to bring about the best highways to suit the traffic conditions that exist in every part of the state.

"Such efforts are to be strongly commended and are of the greatest value to every community. Wherever a good road goes prosperity follows, and due in this state to our excellent system of construction and maintenance the roads are built to last. They are paid for by the tax on autos and gasoline and contribute an asset rather than a liability.

"The trunk highway and state aid systems in Minnesota have created magic results from one end of the state to the other. In every village and town and city, and along the lines of the farmer, they all show the advantage of the improved highway. There are no longer tumbledown suburbs; houses and barns along the way are repaired and painted, the rickety old mail post has been replaced by a neat ornamental one either of planed wood or concrete set back well on the edge of the shoulder to enable the postman to stop without interfering with traffic.

"In many states the road laws provided only for the construction of new roads with little thought for their ultimate upkeep and maintenance. We in Minnesota are to be congratulated upon the far-sighted policy of maintenance incorporated in our one mill tax law and later amply provided for by the constitutional amendment of the trunk highway system, whereby a sum sufficient to properly take care of and adequately maintain the 7,000 miles included in the present amendment. To more completely co-ordinate the work of maintenance under the direct supervision of the maintenance engineer of the Highway Department the state was divided into 16 districts, each having approximately 440 miles of trunk highway roads all in charge of a superintendent of maintenance who has direct supervision, and it is his duty to keep all roads in his district in proper shape throughout the year.

"The maintenance activities require an expenditure of approximately four millions of dollars a year, about $250,000 allotted to each district. The prime function and largest item of expense is incurred in the patrol maintenance force consisting of nearly 1,000 horse-drawn patrol units, each being responsible for the smoothness of the travelled road, patch gravelling, roadside and drainage upkeep over a section of road averaging 6 miles in length. In addition, the patrol work is supplemented (and becoming gradually absorbed) by motorized maintenance equipment. A gradual tendency seems to be toward displacement of the team patrol by truck, gang, or tractor patrol units where the volume of traffic demands attention beyond the capacity of a team patrol. Supplemental work includes gravelling, reconstruction of ungraded or partially graded roads, snow removal, road oiling, and many other activities requiring the use of trucks, tractors, graders, steam rollers, steam shovels, etc., which in turn require economical and adequate provision for their repair and upkeep.

"The solution resolved itself into providing a combination district office headquarters, repair and paint shops with storage facilities of the kind we are now here to inspect. Five similar buildings are in the progress of construction, or completed, and when the program which contemplates the erection of four buildings of this type each year is carried out we will have one in each of the 16 cities of district control.

"The Highway Department rejoices today with Brainerd in celebrating the completion of this much needed and long looked for pavement T. H. No. 27. The project which has been in course of construction throughout the whole season, fills the gap from Belle Prairie to Brainerd, thus getting a continuous pavement through Little Falls and St. Cloud, to the Twin Cities, and with the present pavement on T. H. No. 1 to Steele Centre it will be a part of a continuous pavement of 214 miles. At this time this is the longest stretch of pavement in the state. Completion of this pavement will be hailed with joy by motorists, not alone from this state, but from all over the country. The fame of Crow Wing county extends far beyond the confines of this state, the diversified country, the wonderful lakes, the aroma of pines, the fishing, and last but not least the spirit of good comradeship all tends to create a bond of good fellowship that goes on like Tennyson's brook forever and forever, and on behalf of Mr. Babcock, and the Highway Department, I thank you for the pleasure of once more renewing my acquaintanceship in this favored land."

Mayor Little's Talk

Mayor Frank E. Little, in his welcoming address, said in part:

"The completion of the paving to Brainerd is a link that binds Brainerd with the Twin Cities and all highways leading south, and opens the way to our rich farming and dairying communities south of our city. We, as citizens, should be proud of this fact and grateful to the highway department of our state for this improvement.

"We are now the very hub of our great lake region with highways leading in all directions from the very heart of our business district, which will mean so much to our city, for with the completion of our paved highway and the fact that it will be kept open for traffic throughout the year, it will mean a longer and more profitable tourist trade. We have one of the finest tourist parks in the state and summer resorts to take care of your wants.

"Our visitors will always find a hearty welcome to our city and prompt and courteous treatment from our business men and the officers in charge of our city.

"Brainerd has great opportunities for growth and expansion and needs the co-operation of each and every citizen to welcome new industries to our city.

"Brainerd has great opportunities for growth and expansion and needs the co-operation of each and every citizen to welcome new industries to our city. By co-operation and good fellowship we can solidify the faith we have in our city. Let us all unite in boosting the city noted for its good roads, beautiful lake regions and pine trees that make the very air you breathe fragrant and health giving."

Washington Sends Greetings

Mayor Frank E. Little today received the following telegram of greeting from Ernest N. Smith, general manager of the American Automobile Association, from Washington, D. C.:

"A. A. A., representing organized motordom, extends hearty congratulations upon completion of thirty-mile stretch pavement from Little Falls, thus giving more than two hundred miles of hard surface road from practically Iowa line through Twin Cities into the heart of Ten Thousand Lakes. This is an accomplishment of which Brainerd citizens may well be proud. We also extend congratulations to our state affiliation, the Minnesota State Automobile Association."

Winnipeg Sends Greetings

Mayor R. M. Webb, of Winnipeg, sent greetings from Winnipeg and also tendered regrets at being unable to attend.

Breezy Point's Contribution

Captain and Mrs. William H. Fawcett of Breezy Point Lodge aided in making the celebration a success and the children happy by providing them with hundreds of balloons and squawkers just before the parade. The kiddies sure appreciated it and showed it by having the best time of their lives.

Early this morning delegations, speakers, started coming to Brainerd to take part in the celebration. Newspaper photographers and reporters kept the wires hot with dispatches to their newspapers.

R. C. Emery, of the St. Paul Dispatch, who writes "The Gopher Trail" column, was sent to cover the celebration for St. Paul.

Charles A. Benson, of the Duluth Herald, took pictures of the celebration for the picture page of Monday's Duluth Herald edition.

Mayor Smart of Bemidji Coming

Mayor Frank E. Little this morning received the following letter from Mayor Tom Smart of Bemidji, who arrived at noon today to take part in the celebration:

"Answering your kind invitation of November 6, permit me to say that I accept the invitation to be in Brainerd on Saturday, November 13, and to assist you and the good people of Brainerd in celebrating the completion of the cement paving that links Brainerd with the Twin Cities.

DANVILLE PAYS HOMAGE TO "UNCLE JOE"

BODY OF JOSEPH G. CANNON RESTS IN STATE IN HIS OLD HOME

TO THE CITY HIS PASSING AWAY SEEMS A PERSONAL AFFLICTION

Danville, Ill., Nov. 13.—(UP) — Danville today paid homage to its first citizen—Joseph Gurney Cannon, known to all as "Uncle Joe."

While the body of the most colorful speaker the house ever had, rested in state in the big old red house on Vermilion street in which "Uncle Joe" died at noon yesterday, an air of quietude pervaded the town.

To the city that Cannon has called home ever since he began his picturesque political career, his death seems to have been a personal affliction.

Newsboys, bankers, merchants, cab drivers, telephone girls — they all have found a common ground for mourning.

They treked down Vermilion street throughout the day to learn of funeral plans. At present details of the funeral have not been announced other than that it will be held Tuesday.

"Uncle Joe" himself planned his burial. He will be laid to rest beneath a simple monument which he chose and had erected on the family lot in Spring Hill cemetery.

The esteem in whch Cannon was held throughout the country continued to be shown today as hundreds of telegrams and personal messages poured in.

The home was literally swamped in floral offerings.

Definite funeral arrangements are held up pending arrival from Washington of grandchildren.

FARMER THROWN FROM A FARM WAGON AND KILLED

Benson, Minn., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Thrown from a farm wagon and landing on his head, Frank Johnson, 69, of Torning township, suffered complete paralysis and died the next day. The widow, two daughters and six sons survive.

ILLINOIS SEEKS RELIEF FROM GANG WARFARE

RECKLESS FIGHTING ALREADY RESULTED IN DEATHS OF SEVERAL MEN

DESTRUCTION OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS' WORTH OF PROPERTY

Marion, Ill., Nov. 13. — (UP) — Southern Illinois looked expectantly toward the governor's office today for some relief from the reckless gang fighting which has already resulted in the deaths of several men and destruction of thousands of dollars worth of property.

The climax to the fighting came yesterday when an airplane flying low over the countryside bombed "Shady Rest," a roadhouse operated by Charley Birger, leader of the faction that is staging a feud with the Shelton brothers gang, long a dominant factor in southern Illinois.

The first bomb failed to explode but as seven or eight gangsters ran out of the place and started machine gun fire at the plane, the unidentified aviator dropped two more bombs, one of which exploded.

Today the entire law-abiding citizenship is aroused as to what will come next. They fear a general bomb attack on the haunts of the gangsters which undoubtedly would result in the deaths of persons not interested in the gang fighting, and destruction of property.

Sentiment of the section today seemed to tend toward an appeal for federal aid if state aid is not given immediately.

At present Carl and Bernie Shelton, two of the gang leaders, are under federal arrest in connection with a $21,000 mail robbery at Collinsville, Ill., some time ago.

The Sheltons are said to owe their arrest to their sworn enemy, Birger, who openly charged that they were responsible for the robbery.

EXPLOSION FROM KEROSENE CAUSES WOMAN'S DEATH

Madison, Minn., Nov. 13.—(UP)—An explosion which is believed to have resulted from kerosene caused the death of Mrs. William Reemer, 33, of Madison, and seriously injured Arnold Reemer, her brother-in-law, whose right hand was painfully burned.

FORMER SERVANT IN HOUSEHOLD OF HALL TESTIFIES

MRS. RIEHL IS POSITIVE REGARDING TELEPHONE RECEIVER INCIDENT

DEFENSE, ACCORDING TO PRESENT INDICATIONS, MAY ADVANCE ALIBIS

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 13.—Testimony of Louise Geist Riehl, former servant in the home of the Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, has left two divergent theories as to the activities of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall on the night of Sept. 14, 1922, when Dr. Hall and his choir singer sweetheart, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, were murdered on the Phillips farm, near New Brunswick.

Mrs. Riehl was adamant in her insistance that Mrs. Hall had replaced the receiver of a telephone extension before Dr. Hall had made an engagement with his sweetheart, an appointment which was to lead to their deaths.

This upset the state's contention that Mrs. Hall having overheard her husband and Mrs. Mills, had summoned her brothers and surprised the amorous pair, the resulting altercation being a prelude to murder.

The defense, casting about for a wholly satisfactory plea in behalf of Mrs. Hall and her brothers, made much of Mrs. Riehl's testimony. The state has alleged that the murder was committed at or near 10 P. M.

According to present indications attorneys for Mrs. Hall and her brothers are to base their defense on alibis.

Sen. Simpson announced today that he had heard once more from "Mrs. S.," a New York woman, who claims that she was an eye witness to the murder and that she may consent to his request to testify.

Witnesses expected to be called today include Marcus Beekman, a brother of the late Azariah Beekman, prosecutor of Somerset county, to whom certain papers in the case were turned over; Mr. and Mrs. William Berkman, cousins of Mrs. Hall; Jacob Van Pelt, New Brunswick garageman; Al Butler, New Brunswick officer; former Sheriff Bogart Conklin of Middlesex county, and Ferd David, Middlesex county detective.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 13.—Mrs. Jane Gibson, star witness for the state in the Hall-Mills case, was reported as showing slight improvement in her condition at the Jersey City hospital today. Mrs. Gibson underwent a blood transfusion operation yesterday.

Court Room, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 13.—A large pasteboard box, the contents of which were not revealed, was carried into the court room and placed on the state counsel's table today when court opened for the Hall-Mills murder trial.

It might have passed unnoticed in any other case, but in this unusual trial it sent a wave of expectancy through the audience and gave rise to reports that Prosecutor Alexander Simpson was about to unfold another surprise—probably in the shape of bits of clothing and other gruesome relics of the murder scene.

Court Room, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 13.—William J. Grealis, a clothes cleaning establishment employe, today told the jury in the Hall-Mills murder case that two days after the murder, Willie Stevens had given him a bundle of stained clothing to clean.

"Willie was very excited and argued with me," he testified, explaining that Stevens insisted he leave the Hall home, where he had called for the package, by a rear door.

Grealis was not certain as to the color of the stains on the clothing except that they were "dark."

Mayor Frank E. Little

Of Brainerd, who delivered the speech of welcome from the north at the paving celebration program and was responded to by Mayor James Adair, of Owatonna, who presented greetings from the south.

CONDITION OF CASHIER CRITICAL

Detroit Lakes, Minn., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Condition of W. J. Norby, cashier of the closed Becker County State Bank of Lake Park, continued critical today.

Physicians said that the outcome of Norby's wound will not be known until Monday or Tuesday when the crisis will be reached. Norby is conscious intermittently. The bullet that struck him injured the brain near the right ear.

Norby and Frank Murphy, vice president of the Callaway Citizens State Bank, were wounded mysteriously Tuesday in a locked room of the Callaway bank.

Murphy, it is believed, will recover.

CAUGHT IN CONVEYOR AND DEATH FOLLOWS

Hastings, Minn., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Hjalmar Nordlund, 35, of 405 Bryant Avenue North, Minneapolis, died at Latto hospital here today of injuries suffered Wednesday when he became caught in a conveyor of the elevator of the King Midas Milling Company. He is survived by the widow and three children living in Minneapolis.

BANDIT KILLED AND POLICEMAN WOUNDED

New York, Nov. 13.—(UP) — A bandit was killed and a policeman and a pedestrian wounded today in an attempted holdup of a Broadway jewelry store in the center of the theatrical district.

The holdup man was killed in an exchange of shots with Traffic Policeman John Loregan, who was seriously wounded in the left side.

Arthur Beck, a passerby, was wounded in the leg.

Red Wing, Minn., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Mr. and Mrs. William J. Featherstone, pioneer residents of Goodhue county, observed their sixtieth wedding anniversary Friday with a gathering of friends Featherstone township is named after Mr. Featherstone.

COMBINATION BREWERY AND "BEER FARM"

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Declared by prohibition agents to be one of the most unique places of its kind ever raided in Wisconsin, a combination brewery and "beer farm" near Menomonie Falls, and 60 gallons of beer in kegs, 145 gallons of malt syrup and approximately 281 bottles of the brew found on the premises were confiscated by the government agents.

Carl Limberger was arrested as proprietor of the "beer farm" and later released when a careful check of the records revealed that he was already out under bond on a pending federal case. According to Col. A. M. Early, federal prohibition director, the place has been raided once before and a government attachment was placed on the beer and the materials for manufacture.

Early announced that he will confer with the United States district attorney's office today to determine what action would be taken against Limberger for violating the attachment order.

PARADE MILES LONG OPENS THE CELEBRATION

MAMMOTH PARADE WENDED ITS WAY DOWN SIXTH IN JUBILANT MANNER

IN SPITE OF DISCOURAGING DAY CITY WAS OUT IN FULL ASSEMBLY

A parade, miles long, the longest and most enthusiastic one Brainerd has ever had the occasion to witness, wended its mammoth form slowly down Sixth street today amid the shouts, cheers, applause of thousands of spectators, music by four bands, the shriek of horns, whistles blowing, movie cameras clicking, as a showing to the world just what the city of Brainerd thinks of the new paving completion of State Highway No 27 to Brainerd from the Twin Cities.

Pathe News Service on Job

The Pathe News Service, Inc., known throughout the world for its alertness in pictorially reporting important news events, filmed the governor, visiting mayors, members of the paving celebration committee, and a half dozen shots of the high lights of the parade and then filmed the crowd entering the new highway department building.

The Pathe News Service is shown by Finkelstein & Ruben theatres throughout Minnesota, and other states where this syndicate of theatres operate.

Authorization for the Pathe man to operate in Brainerd was given out by the New York general headquarters of this news reel company. Thus Brainerd's celebration of the pavement is made a pictorial record and insured wide distribution throughout the United States and the entire world.

The Ray-Bell Films, Inc., of St. Paul, are northwest representatives of the Pathe News, and Charles E. Bell, vice president of the company, took the pictures. In spite of weather conditions he believes they will develop well and make a good picture.

The films are sent to New York, there developed and released within 10 days.

Governor Theodore Christianson termed the opening of State Highway No. 27 between Brainerd and the Twin Cities as a significant step toward the completion of a state hard road system, when he addressed thousands of people this afternoon at the program in the new state highway department building.

His appearance in the parade and later on the speaking platform was greeted with loud applause by the people.

PAVEMENT ON NO. 27 FORMALLY OPENED ON NOVEMBER 13

Minnesota trunk highways had their first snow blockades last Monday but the weekly condition report from the Minnesota Highway department announces that all the roads were opened within 36 hours. This year, like last year, the first blizzard occurred in the extreme southern counties.

Pavement on T. H. No. 27 from Belle Prairie to Brainerd will be formally opened Nov 13 and pavement on T. H. No. 3 north from Winona will be opened Nov. 17. Pavement on T. H. No. 1 is now open from Mission Creek to Duluth. Completion of pavement in Blooming Prairie has eliminated the detour on T. H. No. 40.

Work of maintenace patrolmen in keeping the roads smooth found the surfaces generally good when the ground froze, as shown by the detailed reports below. Roads given are those in Brainerd section:

T. H. No. 2—Duluth, Brainerd, Wadena, Detroit Lakes and Moorhead—264 miles—Duluth, paved—Carlton, good—Aitkin, good—Brainerd, good—Moorhead.

T. H. No. 18—Elk River, Milaca and Brainerd—102 miles—Good.

T. H. No. 19—Brainerd, Walker and Cass Lake—97 miles—Brainerd, good—Pine River, good, fair, good—Walker, good—Cass Lake.

T. H. No. 27—St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainerd—66 miles—Paved.

EXPLOSION FROM KEROSENE CAUSES WOMAN'S DEATH

Madison, Minn., Nov. 13.—(UP)—An explosion which is believed to have resulted from kerosene caused the death of Mrs. William Reemer, 33, of Madison, and seriously injured Arnold Reemer, her brother-in-law, whose right hand was painfully burned.

FORMER SERVANT IN HOUSEHOLD OF HALL TESTIFIES

MRS. RIEHL IS POSITIVE REGARDING TELEPHONE RECEIVER INCIDENT

DEFENSE, ACCORDING TO PRESENT INDICATIONS, MAY ADVANCE ALIBIS

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 13.—Testimony of Louise Geist Riehl, former servant in the home of the Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, has left two divergent theories as to the activities of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall on the night of Sept. 14, 1922, when Dr. Hall and his choir singer sweetheart, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, were murdered on the Phillips farm, near New Brunswick.

Mrs. Riehl was adamant in her insistance that Mrs. Hall had replaced the receiver of a telephone extension before Dr. Hall had made an engagement with his sweetheart, an appointment which was to lead to their deaths.

This upset the state's contention that Mrs. Hall having overheard her husband and Mrs. Mills, had summoned her brothers and surprised the amorous pair, the resulting altercation being a prelude to murder.

The defense, casting about for a wholly satisfactory plea in behalf of Mrs. Hall and her brothers, made much of Mrs. Riehl's testimony. The state has alleged that the murder was committed at or near 10 P. M.

According to present indications attorneys for Mrs. Hall and her brothers are to base their defense on alibis.

Sen. Simpson announced today that he had heard once more from "Mrs. S.," a New York woman, who claims that she was an eye witness to the murder and that she may consent to his request to testify.

Witnesses expected to be called today include Marcus Beekman, a brother of the late Azariah Beekman, prosecutor of Somerset county, to whom certain papers in the case were turned over; Mr. and Mrs. William Berkman, cousins of Mrs. Hall; Jacob Van Pelt, New Brunswick garageman; Al Butler, New Brunswick officer; former Sheriff Bogart Conklin of Middlesex county, and Ferd David, Middlesex county detective.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 13.—Mrs. Jane Gibson, star witness for the state in the Hall-Mills case, was reported as showing slight improvement in her condition at the Jersey City hospital today. Mrs. Gibson underwent a blood transfusion operation yesterday.

Court Room, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 13.—A large pasteboard box, the contents of which were not revealed, was carried into the court room and placed on the state counsel's table today when court opened for the Hall-Mills murder trial.

It might have passed unnoticed in any other case, but in this unusual trial it sent a wave of expectancy through the audience and gave rise to reports that Prosecutor Alexander Simpson was about to unfold another surprise—probably in the shape of bits of clothing and other gruesome relics of the murder scene.

Court Room, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 13.—William J. Grealis, a clothes cleaning establishment employe, today told the jury in the Hall-Mills murder case that two days after the murder, Willie Stevens had given him a bundle of stained clothing to clean.

"Willie was very excited and argued with me," he testified, explaining that Stevens insisted he leave the Hall home, where he had called for the package, by a rear door.

Grealis was not certain as to the color of the stains on the clothing except that they were "dark."

CONDITION OF CASHIER CRITICAL

Detroit Lakes, Minn., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Condition of W. J. Norby, cashier of the closed Becker County State Bank of Lake Park, continued critical today.

Physicians said that the outcome of Norby's wound will not be known until Monday or Tuesday when the crisis will be reached. Norby is conscious intermittently. The bullet that struck him injured the brain near the right ear.

Norby and Frank Murphy, vice president of the Callaway Citizens State Bank, were wounded mysteriously Tuesday in a locked room of the Callaway bank.

Murphy, it is believed, will recover.

CAUGHT IN CONVEYOR AND DEATH FOLLOWS

Hastings, Minn., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Hjalmar Nordlund, 35, of 405 Bryant Avenue North, Minneapolis, died at Latto hospital here today of injuries suffered Wednesday when he became caught in a conveyor of the elevator of the King Midas Milling Company. He is survived by the widow and three children living in Minneapolis.

BANDIT KILLED AND POLICEMAN WOUNDED

New York, Nov. 13.—(UP) — A bandit was killed and a policeman and a pedestrian wounded today in an attempted holdup of a Broadway jewelry store in the center of the theatrical district.

The holdup man was killed in an exchange of shots with Traffic Policeman John Loregan, who was seriously wounded in the left side.

Arthur Beck, a passerby, was wounded in the leg.

Red Wing, Minn., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Mr. and Mrs. William J. Featherstone, pioneer residents of Goodhue county, observed their sixtieth wedding anniversary Friday with a gathering of friends Featherstone township is named after Mr. Featherstone.

COMBINATION BREWERY AND "BEER FARM"

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Declared by prohibition agents to be one of the most unique places of its kind ever raided in Wisconsin, a combination brewery and "beer farm" near Menomonie Falls, and 60 gallons of beer in kegs, 145 gallons of malt syrup and approximately 281 bottles of the brew found on the premises were confiscated by the government agents.

Carl Limberger was arrested as proprietor of the "beer farm" and later released when a careful check of the records revealed that he was already out under bond on a pending federal case. According to Col. A. M. Early, federal prohibition director, the place has been raided once before and a government attachment was placed on the beer and the materials for manufacture.

Early announced that he will confer with the United States district attorney's office today to determine what action would be taken against Limberger for violating the attachment order.

PARADE MILES LONG OPENS THE CELEBRATION

MAMMOTH PARADE WENDED ITS WAY DOWN SIXTH IN JUBILANT MANNER

IN SPITE OF DISCOURAGING DAY CITY WAS OUT IN FULL ASSEMBLY

A parade, miles long, the longest and most enthusiastic one Brainerd has ever had the occasion to witness, wended its mammoth form slowly down Sixth street today amid the shouts, cheers, applause of thousands of spectators, music by four bands, the shriek of horns, whistles blowing, movie cameras clicking, as a showing to the world just what the city of Brainerd thinks of the new paving completion of State Highway No 27 to Brainerd from the Twin Cities.

Pathe News Service on Job

The Pathe News Service, Inc., known throughout the world for its alertness in pictorially reporting important news events, filmed the governor, visiting mayors, members of the paving celebration committee, and a half dozen shots of the high lights of the parade and then filmed the crowd entering the new highway department building.

The Pathe News Service is shown by Finkelstein & Ruben theatres throughout Minnesota, and other states where this syndicate of theatres operate.

Authorization for the Pathe man to operate in Brainerd was given out by the New York general headquarters of this news reel company. Thus Brainerd's celebration of the pavement is made a pictorial record and insured wide distribution throughout the United States and the entire world.

The Ray-Bell Films, Inc., of St. Paul, are northwest representatives of the Pathe News, and Charles E. Bell, vice president of the company, took the pictures. In spite of weather conditions he believes they will develop well and make a good picture.

The films are sent to New York, there developed and released within 10 days.

Governor Theodore Christianson termed the opening of State Highway No. 27 between Brainerd and the Twin Cities as a significant step toward the completion of a state hard road system, when he addressed thousands of people this afternoon at the program in the new state highway department building.

His appearance in the parade and later on the speaking platform was greeted with loud applause by the people.

PAVEMENT ON NO. 27 FORMALLY OPENED ON NOVEMBER 13

Minnesota trunk highways had their first snow blockades last Monday but the weekly condition report from the Minnesota Highway department announces that all the roads were opened within 36 hours. This year, like last year, the first blizzard occurred in the extreme southern counties.

Pavement on T. H. No. 27 from Belle Prairie to Brainerd will be formally opened Nov 13 and pavement on T. H. No. 3 north from Winona will be opened Nov. 17. Pavement on T. H. No. 1 is now open from Mission Creek to Duluth. Completion of pavement in Blooming Prairie has eliminated the detour on T. H. No. 40.

Work of maintenace patrolmen in keeping the roads smooth found the surfaces generally good when the ground froze, as shown by the detailed reports below. Roads given are those in Brainerd section:

T. H. No. 2—Duluth, Brainerd, Wadena, Detroit Lakes and Moorhead—264 miles—Duluth, paved—Carlton, good—Aitkin, good—Brainerd, good—Moorhead.

T. H. No. 18—Elk River, Milaca and Brainerd—102 miles—Good.

T. H. No. 19—Brainerd, Walker and Cass Lake—97 miles—Brainerd, good—Pine River, good, fair, good—Walker, good—Cass Lake.

T. H. No. 27—St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainerd—66 miles—Paved.

NICARAGUA DOES NOT LIKE THE DIAZ REGIME

Washington, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Nicaraguan revolutionary representatives here today appealed to the state department not to accept the constitutionality of the new Diaz regime.

Dr. Timoeteo Vaca, representing the revolutionary leader, former Vice President Sacassa, delivered a note to the department declaring the Adolfo Diaz election by the Nicaraguan congress spurious and reasserting Sacassa's claim to the presidency.

There were no indications that Vaca's arguments would change this government's position to recognize Diaz who is to be inaugurated tomorrow.

SEARCH FOR BANDIT WHO SHOT CASHIER

Williston, N. D., Nov. 13.—(UP)—The search for three bandits who shot and killed H. N. Peterson, cashier of the Citizens State bank of Wheelock, N. D., was resumed today by posses which gave up the chase Friday.

Although mortally wounded and threatened with death, Peterson balked the bandits' attempt to loot the bank by refusing to open a vault which contained $3,000.

Then, apparently freightened, the bandits escaped in a closed automobile without loot.

Jefferson Bible One of Nation's Treasures

The so-called Jefferson Bible is a compilation made by Thomas Jefferson, consisting of passages from the four Gospels cut out and pasted in a volume according to a scheme of his own. He began the work about 1804, during his Presidency, when he bought two English Testaments and compiled a work of 46 pages. Two evenings were spent at this interesting task, at the conclusion of which the President remarked: "A more precious morsel of ethics was never seen." He intended this first abridgment for the use of the Indians. From a letter which he wrote to a friend it is learned that he was in the habit of reading from the volume every night before going to bed. About 1819 Jefferson completed the work by doing the same thing with Testaments in Greek, Latin and French. He entitled the work, "The Life and Morals of Jesus of Nazareth." The book contains no notes except the section of the Roman law under which Jesus was supposed to have been brought to trial. The list of passages, the title pages and the references to passages are in the handwriting of Jefferson. Two maps, one of Palestine and another of the ancient world, are pasted in front. The original work is in the National museum, Washington.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Earliest Mirrors

Mirrors of glass were first made at Venice in 1300, and judging from those still in existence they were very rude contrivances compared with those of modern make. The first attempt to back the glass with silver was made by Liebig in 1863.

Two evenings were spent at this interesting task, at the conclusion of which the President remarked: "A more precious morsel of ethics was never seen." He intended this first abridgment for the use of the Indians. From a letter which he wrote to a friend it is learned that he was in the habit of reading from the volume every night before going to bed. About 1819 Jefferson completed the work by doing the same thing with Testaments in Greek, Latin and French. He entitled the work, "The Life and Morals of Jesus of Nazareth." The book contains no notes except the section of the Roman law under which Jesus was supposed to have been brought to trial. The list of passages, the title pages and the references to passages are in the handwriting of Jefferson. Two maps, one of Palestine and another of the ancient world, are pasted in front. The original work is in the National museum, Washington.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Earliest Mirrors

Mirrors of glass were first made at Venice in 1300, and judging from those still in existence they were very rude contrivances compared with those of modern make. The first attempt to back the glass with silver was made by Liebig in 1863.

PROBLEMS OF LIFE DISCUSSED BY BOYS

Older Boys Conference Has Interesting Session Last Evening

G. JACKSON LEADS DISCUSSION

"Dad" Elliott Gave Very Interesting Address on "Choosing the Best"

Twenty eight problems brought before the Brainerd Older Boys' Conference session last evening at the Methodist church by the delegates themselves were jotted down on the discussion blackboards by Glenn Jackson, national high school secretary, for discussion over and thought by the different groups at their own discussions.

Glenn Jackson

Glenn Jackson, of New York, is one of the most prominent conductors of boys work in the United States. He works with the leaders of discussion groups and will close the conference on Sunday. He was secretary of the North Side Y. M. C. A., Minneapolis, until called into the national field.

The following problems were among those considered of the greatest worth:

"How can I do what I want to do, when it is hard to do what I should."

"Shall I follow the gang or not."

"Relations with girls, are our folks "old fashioned."

"What to do nights and in spare time."

"Grand stand sheiks, non athletes giving advice to participants."

"Dad" Elliott Talks

A. J. "Dad" Elliott, of Chicago, last evening delivered an inspiring and interesting address on "Choosing the Best."

He stated that in his 20 years experience with colleges, universities, he had come in personal contact with problems presented to him by over 21,000 young men.

"The young man of today should look for a larger development of light. We must have personality to pattern our lives if we are to become successful, "Dad" Elliott stated.

Mr. Elliott discussed intimately with the boys bettering of their lives to one of efficiency. Among the problems discussed were: the girl question, respecting the law, self control, smoking, labor, church attitude, courage of own convictions.

HEDDA HOYT SAYS---

By HEDDA HOYT

WHATS AND WHATNOTS

New York, Nov 13.—(UP)—Replenishing the home is a recurrent malady which women are subject to each Fall. Shops offer cure-alls in the way of lamps, glasswear, pillows, console sets, boudoir nicknacks and all sorts of dudabs for brightening up the corner. It is necessary to have an interior decorators discriminating taste if the atmosphere of the home is to remain intact.

So few women express individuality in the smaller objects of home furnishings. After they have purchased the main pieces of furniture be these early American, old Italian or Spanish, old English or modern Grand Rapids, they rely upon the same ornaments of decoration. Candlesticks! What home has not several sets of these today? There are places where gay candles lend a decorative color touch but why do women invariably place them on the sideboard or console table adding insult to individuality by placing a bowl of artificial fruits or flowers between them? What highly-glossed fruit hasn't done to universalize the dining room the candlestick has.

The gaily-dressed doll in one of the favored obscessions for the bedroom. Gray-haired and oggle-eyed she acts as a custodian for the telephone or sits foolishly upon a silken bedspread. Few women have passed up childishness for better things.

Sometimes we wonder if the spirit of the corner what not, the cabinet with its tarantula enclosed in a glass paperweight, its slipper pincushions, its seashells and small art objects and souvenirs, isn't with us today.

We have thrown out the framed picture of Aunt Hestor in her wedding gown with her hand on Uncle Arthur's shoulder and replaced her with a copy of Psyche at the Well or the prophet Hosea, and, if we are tres ultra, a ship model of Spanish galleon type adorns the shelf beneath her. These boats with their faded banners will soon adorn the home of each and every American if the art shops have their way.

Many useful but unornamental household objects have passed into oblivion but others have taken their places. When pincushions went out of style many a man was bereft of his pipe cleaner. One antique shop is selling hair-combing holders of glass as antiques.

One can't explain what sort of ornaments people should place in their homes for they should be individual.

Trashy art goods, seasonal novelties and faddish things are poor objects to put money into. Fewer art objects and better ones, comfortable colors and not too many dashes of color, fewer dust-catchers and boudoir-ish cushions in living rooms, less fruit and candlesticks less artificial flowers, towers of good books and lamps chosen for lighting purposes are a few suggestions.

Beltrami County Republican committee.

"F. J. McPartlin, of Bemidji, former member of the Minnesota legislature for many years.

"Thayer C. Bailey, municipal judge, city of Bemidji.

"A. G. Ruttledge, of Bemidji, former assistant commissioner of immigration of the state, present secretary of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association and field representative for the Bemidji Daily Pioneer, the Bemidji Weekly and the Bemidji Sentinel.

"If we are allowed just a moment or two on the program, some member of the party will be glad to tell the world at large how fine a city you have and what Beltrami county and the city of Bemidji thinks of the splendid highway that is a gateway to this great north country.

"Thanking you for the invitation, and hoping to be in Brainerd early Saturday forenoon, by auto,

"Sincerely and fraternally yours,
"Tom Smart."

Mayor Snively of Duluth

Mayor S. F. Snively, mayor of Duluth, this morning sent the following telegram to Mayor F. E. Little, tendering regrets at being unable to attend but announcing his representative:

"Being unable to be personally present at the paving celebration in your city, I am sending Otto Swanstrom as my accredited representative."

Mayor Leach Extends Wishes

Mayor George E. Leach today wired Mayor Little that he would be unable to attend the celebration on account of pressing business matters. He, however, sent his wishes for a successful celebration.

The following message was received today by the people of Brainerd from C. M. Babcock, commissioner of highways:

"To the People of Brainerd and Vicinity:

"It is a matter of great regret to me that the annual convention of the American Association of State Highway Officials comes the same week as your celebration and makes it impossible for me to be with you.

"Your State Highway department is as happy as you are over the completion of the pavement to Brainerd. The road which preceded this pavement was never adequate to modern traffic, and the people who have been compelled to use it have been very patient in waiting for this improvement.

"This new pavement will make Brainerd a gateway for traffic from the rapidly growing agricultural regions, the prosperous cities and the Cuyuna Range north of you. It will also carry a heavy traffic from the southern part of the state, of people bound for the beautiful lakes and timbered regions north of your city. You may also look for a large volume of tourist traffic from the states south of us.

"Cold figures tell us that there is economy in paving any road which carries as much traffic as this road has carried in the past, to say nothing of the increased traffic in the future. But good roads have a value far beyond the saving in dollars and cents. They are abolishing sectionalism and dispelling misunderstanding. They are promoting tolerance and human progress. They are welding the American people into a more solid unity than we have ever known before.

"The completion of a piece of road is no longer a matter of mere local interest. The entire state has an interest in the completion of this road, because it is part of a system, and also because it makes available for use elsewhere the money which would be spent for maintenance here if this road were not built. The people in your community have always shown an interest in the work we are trying to do elsewhere, and I can assure you that your co-operation is appreciated."

The following telegram was received from Harrison & Start, realtors, Kansas City, Mo.:

"We acknowledge receipt of your invitation to the celebration of the completion of the pavement to Brainerd and regret that it is not possible for one of us to attend. We wonder if you fully realize the great importance of the completion of this pavement which should make Brainerd the outfitting point of the north country for the countless thousands who will travel this road each year in increasing numbers.

"Based upon careful investigation, it is our opinion that because of the completion of the pavement a new era of prosperity is opening to Brainerd and needs only publicity to secure the bulk of the tourist travel and good merchandising methods and hotel accommodations to cause the visitors to return year after year. You are now at the north end of an unbroken concrete slab approximately two hundred fifteen miles in length connecting with gravelled and paved roads to Kansas City, excepting three gaps totalling eighty-five miles.

"With this exception and thirty miles of dirt road a short distance of Kansas City and a few short unpaved stretches in Oklahoma there is a continuous all-weather road from Dallas, Texas, to Brainerd and beyond. We are informed by the various highway commissions these dirt gaps will be partly paved in nineteen twenty-seven and completely so in nineteen twenty-eight.

"Brainerd should be extravagant in describing the lake region of which it is the heart as the beauties of the district, the wonderful climate and exceptional opportunity for recreation are more appreciated by persons from this locality than you probably realize.."

The following telegram was received from Arthur L. Roberts, president of the 10,000 Lakes Association:

"Regret exceedingly my inability to be present at celebration today. You have planned a splendid event commemorating the opening of the pavement from the south. Thousands of tourists visiting your beautiful city will be extremely grateful as well as Minnesota citizens. As president of the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association, I send greetings to all assembled with the hope that the great state of Minnesota will always progress as today."

LILLIAN GISH and JOHN GILBERT in "LA BOHEME"

"La Boheme" is Now on Screen

"La Boheme," known and loved wherever opera is sung, is now on the screen!

The tragic story of Mimi, the little seamstress of the Latin Quarter, and her poet lover Rodolphe, opened today at the Park Theatre. It is Lillian Gish's latest starring vehicle. Miss Gish, wistful heroine of many famous plays, has one of the crowning roles of her career in Henry Murger's classic, produced on a lavish scale by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, under the direction of King Vidor.

"La Boheme" is one of the most appealing heart-interest stories in the whole field of the classics. The screen version was not taken from the opera itself, but from the original Henri Murger novel, of which the opera story was one episode.

BUY FROM LOCAL STORES

THE St. Cloud Daily Times has a very convincing editorial on "Buying from Local Stores." The argument addressed to housewives at St. Cloud is just as applicable here in Brainerd.

The housewife usually regards the peddler who comes to her door as a nuisance. But half the time she encourages him by the upside-down process of "buying something to get rid of him." She finds it easier, in the individual instance, to buy a package of bad needles or a rubber apron which turns out to be a second, than it is to listen to a stream of talk and force herself to argument as to why she should not buy.

Yet if all the housewives of any town were to unite in refusal to buy of the itinerant salesman for a year, they would find themselves left, long before the year was out, in peace and quiet to attend to their home duties without interruption and to do their marketing according to their own judgment.

In one prosperous small city often victimized by this type of person, the merchants got together and issued a statement which may well be heeded here:

"Numerous complaints are being received from housewives who report that they have lost money through purchasing merchandise from unknown house-to-house peddlers. Professional swindlers who go from city to city have victimized thousands of housewives. Merchandise is misrepresented and, if delivered, is often inferior to samples shown. Advance payments are sometimes collected, the peddler vanishes and the merchandise is never received. Investigate before you buy or invest.

"Your responsible local merchants support all civic and public enterprises, pay taxes for the city's development and support, and give employment to thousands of home-town people. You can always see them personally for the adjustment of any mistakes.

"You are safe in buying from responsible local stores."

MR. SCHWAB ON AMERICA'S FUTURE

CHARLES M. SCHWAB takes the large view and the long one in contemplating what lies ahead for American industry and agriculture. He looks forward as a self-confessed optimist, but he is frank to say that there is much for this country to do in the coming years if its people are to safeguard themselves against foreign competition and still keep their standards of living.

One of the things to do is to rise to still higher levels of manufacturing and farming efficiency. Another is to rear a marketing structure that will operate with less waste of energy and substance. A third, which may in a sense be considered identical with the other two, is to invoke as never before the counsels of science and experience.

The job to be done is not one for the independent endeavor of farmer, merchant, manufacturer, financier, and government, respectively, but for a wisely ordered joint effort of all of these, motivated by a common purpose.

Mr. Schwab brought to Minneapolis the message that the industrialists and financiers of the east are sympathetically interested in the affairs and fortunes of the agricultural interior, and are disposed to lend a hand in whatever way is consistent with sound principles and policies. He feels that he knows in the large way what must be done to make prosperity truly democratic and enduring, but confesses a lack of expert knowledge as to how present difficulties are to be surmounted. Nevertheless he divulged a refreshing faith that the problem will be solved; that a pooled American genius will rise to the occasion. So sure of this is he in his own mind that he ventures to say that "we are moving toward heights of prosperity yet undreamed of."

Prosperity takes on different aspects, according to the viewpoint, but the brand of it which Mr. Schwab appears to have in mind embraces the whole body social, and is not concerned in a detached fashion with laborer, employer, farmer or middleman. Manifestly he looks for the main solvents to come from sources other than Washington.—Minneapolis Tribune.

BRAINERD WELCOMES VISITORS

IN spite of a wet day and moisture still coming down at 11 a. m., Brainerd refuses to have the ardor characterizing the Pavement Celebration dampened. The city welcomes all the visitors within its gates and hopes they will enjoy every minute of their stay here.

The completion of the paving means so much to Brainerd that such a little thing as some rain cannot hope to defer it or to impede the jollification. The celebration was put on to acquaint the world at large that the paving is completed.

Commissioner Babcock recently announced that trunk highways such as No. 27 are to be kept open the year around. In preparation for such winter activities he has assembled all manner of equipment to remove snow and to keep the highways in shape.

Brainerd and Crow Wing county, in fact Central Minnesota as well as the rest of the state, welcome the completion of the paving. It relegates the old detour with its bumpy surface to the condition of a side road and now unites by cement highway Brainerd with the Twin Cities and on beyond to the vicinity of the Iowa border in one unbroken road of enduring paving, a distance totalling 214 miles.

Every automobile driver in the state joins in the song of thanksgiving for completion of the pavement.

WE complain a good deal about the lack of parking places, says the Columbia State Journal, but think of the poor people who live in Rhode Island.

IT takes a few releases from leading major league baseball clubs to make a first-class world series pitcher, says the South Bend Tribune.

His Understanding

A certain Sunday school teacher exhausted every means within her power to give the children an understanding of the pillar of cloud and fire that guided the children of Israel. In one instance, however, her labor was in vain. A small boy electrified the family when arriving home by giving the astounding information that a caterpillar went before the people and showed them where to go.

Kite-Flying in the East

The flying of kites is still a national pastime with the Chinese, Japanese, Koreans and Indians. The framework is usually of bamboo strips, covered with thin silk or rice paper. In the Malay peninsula kites seldom have tails. In some parts of Asia they are made with perforated reeds, so that when they float and dip in the air a mournful wailing rises and falls.

Nov. 13, 1901

Manager Walker of the Brainerd Telephone Exchange has constructed a long distance line from the city to the farm of E. C. Bane.

Invitations are out for a reception to be given by Mrs. Julia McFadden, Mrs. F. E. Smith and Mrs. Groves on Friday afternoon of this week.

A. M. Opsahl, the popular photographer returned this morning from a business trip to Fargo. He went to Minneapolis from here going to the metropolis of North Dakota.

Mrs. George D. LaBar will entertain the 'Pinocle Club" this evening at her home on Seventh street North.

Joseph Kiebler is quite sick and it is feared that he will have a run of the typhoid fever.

The auction sale of boxes in the new Brainerd opera house for the opening night, December 2, was held last night in the McFadden Drug Company store. There was a very good attendance and the eight boxes in the house, four downstairs and four upstairs sold for good prices. Ex-Mayor J. H. Koop was a spirited bidder for first choice of boxes and it was finally knocked down to him at $80. J. C. Wood of St. Paul was the successful bidder for second choice which sold for $65. Others who were successful were: C. N. Parker, $75; J. T. Sanborn, $55; F. B. Johnson, $55; George Kreatz, $50; R. R. Wise, $40, and I. E. Bradley of New York $40, making a total of $455.

The board of directors of the Park opera house met this morning and decided to place the parquet seats on sale at once. There are only 187 of these seats and the price fixed is $7.50 each. They are upholstered and are the best in the house. It is believed these will be picked up very rapidly by the public spirited people of the city. Brainerd is known not to do things by half when it once goes at a thing and in this regard the citizens will surely be up to the times.

DR. ROY SMITH'S SATURDAY NIGHT TALKS

By the REV. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.
Pastor Simpson M. E. Church, Minneapolis

THE PERSISTENCE OF FALSEHOOD

Truth is mighty and will prevail but falsehood also has great vitality.

During the early part of the last century Stephen Girard, a Philadelphia millionaire, died leaving a fortune for the establishment of a school for white orphans to be known as Girard College.

Because he had seen the evil effects of theological controversy with its damaging effects on real religion, Mr. Girard undertook to protect the immature minds of the boys who would be enrolled in the school by providing that no ecclesiastic, minister or missionary of any sect was ever to have any connection with the school.

This provision was seized upon by zealots and hot-heads in a day of bitter sectarianism as proof of the "rank atheism" of Mr. Girard (who was an active Mason) and when it opened in 1848 it was denounced by the bigots and uninformed as an atheist institution.

Mr. Girard believed that growing boys, with undeveloped judgments, should not be asked to make the difficult choice of religion when it was confused with secetarian beliefs and theories. All religious instruction, therefore, was to be left in the hands of laymen.

For nearly eighty years the school has been training boys for useful citizenship. Bible reading and moral instruction has been systematically conducted in the school since its opening and few denominational schools have given more careful attention or time to this phase of student life.

Yet a large section of the American public still believes that Girard College is a "school of atheism."

Thousands of students and alumnae, hundreds of newspaper and magazine articles, hundreds of thousands of friends, official bulletins and all the other legitimate agencies have not been sufficient to overtake the falsehood.

Let a false label be pinned on a man or an institution and it requires years of expensive education to right the wrong. Men and institutions of the greatest value to America have been lost because truth has not been able to overtake falsehood.

2 KILLED WHEN CAR IS HIT BY A TRAIN

Woodburn, Ore., Nov. 13.—(UP)—C. S. Clemen and W. D. Wilson, recent arrivals from Wisconsin, were killed here today when the southbound Shasta Limited struck the car in which they were riding at a grade crossing just north of here.

Clemen is survived by a wife and Wilson by a daughter, both now living in Wisconsin.

GARIBALDI AND COL. MACIA TAKEN BY FRENCH POLICE

By A. L. BRADFORD
United Press Staff Correspondent

Paris, Nov. 13.—Col. Riccotti Garibaldi, grandson of the great liberator, and Col. Macia, alleged leader of the recent attempt to arouse the Spanish province of Catalonia to rebellion, today were arrested by the French police along with 26 other plotters. The men were charged with unlawful storing and distribution of arms and ammunition.

Humor in Wills

Full of grim humor was the will of a French lawyer, who left 10,000 francs to a lunatic asylum as a mark of restitution to those clients who had been mad enough to engage his services. A thousand pounds each was the legacy left by a testator to his hospital nurse and cook, for their respective kindnesses in driving a pink monkey from the foot of his bed and taking scarlet snakes out of his soup.

An innovation has been started by Rev. Morris L. Eversz in having special services each evening next week, five preachers of different denominations to conduct services from the First Methodist Episcopal church, corner Sixth street and Juniper street.

REV. M. L. EVERSZ
Pastor of First Methodist Church

Special services will be held each evening next week at the M. E. church with the following speakers:
Monday evening—Rev. A. W. Patterson.
Tuesday evening—Rev. N. P. Olmsted.
Wednesday evening—Rev. L. F. Strothman.
Thursday evening—Rev. R. J. Long.
Friday evening—Capt. J. H. Bollinger.

GARIBALDI AND COL. MACIA TAKEN BY FRENCH POLICE

By A. L. BRADFORD
United Press Staff Correspondent

Paris, Nov. 13.—Col. Riccotti Garibaldi, grandson of the great liberator, and Col. Macia, alleged leader of the recent attempt to arouse the Spanish province of Catalonia to rebellion, today were arrested by the French police along with 26 other plotters. The men were charged with unlawful storing and distribution of arms and ammunition.

Humor in Wills

Full of grim humor was the will of a French lawyer, who left 10,000 francs to a lunatic asylum as a mark of restitution to those clients who had been mad enough to engage his services. A thousand pounds each was the legacy left by a testator to his hospital nurse and cook, for their respective kindnesses in driving a pink monkey from the foot of his bed and taking scarlet snakes out of his soup.

2 KILLED WHEN CAR IS HIT BY A TRAIN

Woodburn, Ore., Nov. 13.—(UP)—C. S. Clemen and W. D. Wilson, recent arrivals from Wisconsin, were killed here today when the southbound Shasta Limited struck the car in which they were riding at a grade crossing just north of here.

Clemen is survived by a wife and Wilson by a daughter, both now living in Wisconsin.

GLOOMY DAY SETS FOR THE GRIDIRON CLASH TODAY

GALLOPING GOPHERS EXPECTED TO GET SOME GOOD PREPARATION THIS AFTERNOON

MINNESOTA, PREDICTED TO WIN, LOOKING MORE AT MICHIGAN GAME NEXT WEEK

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 13.—(UP)—A gloomy day was the setting today for the game between Butler College of Indianapolis and Minnesota.

The galloping Gophers expected to get some good preparation for the Michigan game a week from today out of the long passes that are Butler's forte, but otherwise anticipated no great difficulty.

Rain which fell early today wetted the Memorial Stadium and may not dry off in time, in which the Bulldogs would be at a further disadvantage.

Memorial Stadium, Minneapolis, Nov. 13.—Minnesota and Butler college of Indianapolis lined up for their game here this afternoon on a soft wet field and before a mere few thousand fans. Playing conditions threatened to hamper the Bulldogs' favorite long passes.

SPORT TABLOIDS

Delaney Outpoints Risko

Minneapolis—Jimmy Delaney, St. Paul, outpointed Johnny Risko, Cleveland, in a fast ten rounds here last night. Outweighed 16 pounds, Delaney used a left to the face and a right cross to good advantage and piled up a lead that Risko could not overcome with a rally in the last two rounds. They are light heavyweights.

Ideal University

A university should be a place of light, of liberty, and of learning.—Benjamin Disraeli.

Two of the greatest backs the Midwest has known, Johnny Maulbetsch (Michigan) and Earl Martineau (Minnesota), all-Americans of 1914 and 1923, respectively, fell to showing each other how the game of football is played when Maulbetsch, coach of the Oklahoma Aggies, had his team at Kalamazoo, Mich., for several days of scrimmage with Martineau's Western State Normal team recently. In the picture Maulbetsch is poised at the left in his best defensive stance and Martineau is crouched on offense.

Pulitzer Would Have Had Royal Birds Shot

Fitzroy Gardner, in his book, "More Reminiscences of an Old Bohemian," tells this story about Joseph Pulitzer: "On one occasion, having to stay one night in London, and fearing that his rest would be disturbed by street traffic, he instructed his London representative to obtain at any cost the use of some private house where no traffic could be heard. One of the mansions in Kensington palace gardens was rented for a week for the purpose of a night's occupation. Pulitzer was quite satisfied with the arrangement until, in the early hours of the morning, he was awakened by the piercing shrieks, not many yards away, of peacocks from Kensington palace. He rang for his valet, gave him a revolver—Pulitzer generally had one—and told him to go out and shoot the birds. The valet, not daring to disobey his master, did some desultory firing; the neighborhood was alarmed; police rushed to the spot, and Pulitzer was seriously inconvenienced by the enforced temporary absence of his servant."

Left-Handed Cigars

It is not always because a cigar is badly made that the wrapper curls up and works off. It is often because a right-handed man is smoking a left-handed cigar. A left-handed cigar is one rolled by the maker's left hand, for all cigar makers must be ambidextrous.

A leaf of tobacco for the wrapper is cut on the bias and is rolled from left to right on the filler. The other piece, for reasons of economy, is then used, and must be rolled the opposite way by the workman's other hand.

The smoker, if he holds one of these left-handed cigars in his right hand, is sure to rub the wrapper the wrong way and loosen it. But the cigar is not a bad one—it is a left-handed one.

Ants Fight to Death

Extermination of red-meat ants, one of the most common pests in Australia, frequently is effected by starting a war between these ants and warlike soldier ants. The war between the two varieties of ants is started by placing a large uncooked bone near the nest occupied by the red ants, and when they begin feeding, the bone is removed gradually nearer the nest of soldier ants, a writer in the Sydney Bulletin tells us. When the two tribes meet while attempting to obtain food from the same bone, open warfare follows, during which casualties become exceedingly heavy on both sides. Usually the battle ends in the complete extermination of one of the armies.

Varieties of Bread

Generally speaking, the difference between whole-wheat bread and graham bread is that there is less coarse bran in the so-called whole-wheat bread than in graham bread. True graham bread is made from graham flour. Dr. Alexander Graham was the first to advocate milling the entire wheat, adding nothing and subtracting nothing. In some mills the whole-wheat flour is a product of the whole wheat put through a process to take out the coarsest bran. Bakeries' graham bread is made from a mixture of pure graham flour and white flour, proportions varying—sometimes being half and half.

Compromise Condemned

Compromise is but the sacrifice of one right or good in the hope of obtaining another—too often ending in the loss of both.—Edwards.

2 MINNEAPOLIS DUCK HUNTERS IN HOSPITAL

Princeton, Minn., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Two Minneapolis duck hunters are in a serious condition at a hospital here today as the result of an automobile accident on a road five miles north of Princeton late Friday.

The men are Thomas Leonard and Elmer Conrad who were seriously bruised and cut, but, according to physicians, will recover.

Family of Statesmen

Ohio once had a representative in congress who was the son of a President and the father of a President. He was John Scott Harrison, born at Terre Haute, Ind., at the time when his father, Gen. William Henry Harrison, was governor of Indiana. His son was Benjamin Harrison. John Scott Harrison served only two terms in congress, then retired to the ancestral farm near North Bend, Ohio, where he devoted the rest of his life to agriculture, art and literature. He was first elected in 1852 to the Thirty-second congress. His second term was in the Thirty-fourth congress. He died at North Bend, May 26, 1878.

Travel for Travel's Sake

For my part, I travel not to go anywhere, but to go. I travel for travel's sake. The great affair is to move; to feel the needs and hitches of our life more early; to come down off this featherbed civilization, and find the globe granite under foot and strewn with cutting flints. Alas, as we get up in life, and are more preoccupied with our affairs, even a holiday is a thing that must be worked for. To hold a pack upon packsaddle against a gale out of the freezing North is no high industry, but it is one that serves to occupy and compose the mind. And when the present is so exacting who can annoy himself about the future?—Robert Louis Stevenson.

The Swamp

The swamp glowed like a turkey carpet. The cranberry vines and huckleberry bushes were pure crimson, the black alder berries scarlet, and the ferns burnt orange. Just beyond us, in the velvet of the swamp, was a pond, across which the wind ruffled; living blue, with tawny rushes around it.—Rosalind Richards, in "A Northern Countryside."

TUNNEY IS NOT AS POPULAR AS PREDICTED

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 13.—When Gene Tunney won the heavyweight championship from Jack Dempsey it was predicted, even by those who thought that his victory on a ten-round decision was a fluke, that he would be the most popular of all the champions since old John L.

Tunney seemed to have everything that would appeal to the public. He had good looks and physique, intelligence and character, a war record and a spotless reputation, a pleasing personality and all the endowments of a cultured gentleman.

Dempsey never was a popular champion. He had, through no fault of his own, too many vulnerable spots for the brick throwers and those moralizers who liked to picture a heavyweight champion as a big dumb brute.

Tunney returned from his victory at Philadelphia and was received by the mayor and city officials at City Hall. He was commissioned as a lieutenant in the Marine Corps and sworn in as a deputy sheriff of his home county. He was feted and flattered at numerous dinners and luncheons and became a prized guest at gatherings of the intelligentsia.

But when Tunney made his first public appearance before a fight crowd, a mob that completely filled Tex Rickard's Garden, he was given the "Bronx cheer" and the house was almost torn down with an ovation given to Dempsey when he appeared in the ring with him for the presentation of belts.

Since then, and through the winter it will be continued, a vigorous debate has been going on as to the reasons for the display of such hostility by a New York crowd against a home bred champion.

There are as many opinions and as many reasons advanced as there are voices to express them.

The general opinion, however, is that Tunney has too much "high hat," that his white collars are too high and stiff and that his conversation has too many jaw-breakers for the boys of the fight mob who pay their $2.20 and $3.30 to see and idolize a socker who speaks their own language.

Tunney has been made the victim of a great many errors, over some of which he had no control.

His manager, Billy Gibson, at a luncheon given to the new champion, when he returned to New York made a nasty attack on the sport writers who had exercised the right of their own opinion in picking Dempsey to win the fight and when it came Tunney's turn he followed with a milder but almost as forceful sock against the writers who had always been most generous in their treatment of him.

Tunney, annoyed by the rumors that he was going to marry this actress and that actress, took a crack at the profession and that turned the theatrical crowd against him, a crowd famous for its support of boxing.

Mary Garden returned from Europe and said that she would be willing to marry that big handsome, blonde boy and Tunney on the first occasion accused her of seeking publicity.

He refused to accept $100,000 worth of vaudeville offers because "he didn't like the stage" and that statement didn't help him any.

Through no fault of his and without his knowledge, one of his staff at the training camp caused to be printed a quotation from him: "If I wasn't afraid of machine gun bullets, why should I be afraid of Dempsey."

As a matter fo fact, Tunney never saw the front in France. He never heard a machine gun bullet whistle past him. The Marines know that and practically every soldier and sailor in the service knows it. In justice to Tunney, however, he never boasted of his war record and he wouldn't allow the Marines to present him with a dressing robe, bearing the insignia of the Marine Corps in the ring before the fight.

Then there is also the report, current in boxing circles, that Tunney is going to cast aside Billy Gibson, who got him the fight with Dempsey at the expense of two years' hard work and allow Dudley Field Malone, a society lawyer, to handle his affairs.

This, of course, would be nothing of a hit with the boxing fraternity.

In addition to these unfortunate breaks, there are no small number of boxing followers who do not credit Tunney with being a champion off the old pattern and they want him to show himself against some of the young heavyweights who are now coming up.

Tunney had one good break when Jack Sharkey removed Harry Wills from his hecklers and he can redeem himself if he lives up to his promise to be a fighting champion but he will find out, as Dempsey did, that a heavyweight champion can't fight as often as he wishes.

BRAINERD COMMERCIAL COLLEGE EXERCISES

Brainerd Ladies Band Ushers in Commencement Services Held

D. H. FULLERTON PRESIDES

Other Speakers Were Judge L. B. Kinder, Frof. J. A. Wilson, Rev. A. G. Patterson

Playing to a capacity house last evening the Brainerd Ladies band ushered in the program for the commencement exercises of the Brainerd Commercial college. Under the direction of Winnifred Cronk Ziebell the band performed to merit the applause which it received.

City Attorney D. H. Fullerton announced the speakers, and in a few introductory remarks made known that a Business college had been in operation in the city 18 years ago with the management changing several times until seven years ago when the college moved from its quarters in the Iron Exchange building to its present, in the City hall. In its years of existence the college has catered to over 1,300 students, a seemingly large figure, and which shows that the college has performed a great service for the community.

Judge L. B. Kinder addressed the gathering in a humorous and highly interesting manner. He told of the chemist that had analized a human being and had found that its element would produce a certain quantity of soap, salt, etc., but further stated that a human has something that a chemist cannot analize and as an illustration gave an incide t in the life of Thomas Edison which started him on his way to greatness. He further stated that the graduates had the same desire to make something of themselves, not by common labor, for, having graduated from the college, they had prepared themselves to cope with the problem of making an existence. He also commended those who had partially or fully worked their way through school, saying that "God helps those who help themselves." In giving advice to the graduates he said, "Be loyal to your employer and make his interests your interests, show interest in his business, ask intelligent questions, don't be afraid of work, be courteous above all things, be dependable, for dependability in my opinion is the greatest asset in life." In conclusion he gave a motto which his mother had given him many years before, by Billings, "Consider the postage stamp my friends, it sticks to one thing until it gets there."

Claude Jones, a graduate of the class, rendered a solo, "Thinking," and responded to an encore, "Sweet Southern Breeze," accompanied by Mrs. Ziebell.

Prof. J. A. Wilson, one of the earliest educators in the county, a former superintendent of schools and an old soldier was next called upon, midst much applause. He spoke upon the progress of women in the business world and commented upon the fact that 60 years ago women were not in evidence in the higher institutions of learning. In speaking to the students he said, "You have that within yourselves that what will make you a success and these elements wil help you to make the final touchdown. You can never know too much, never lie down on the job, keep at it. If you discover that you have a talent for something, develop it and be successful. Never let up on knowledge."

The Swedish Glee club composed entirely of men rendered a patriotic selection and responded to hearty applause, with an encore, accompanied by Miss Ida Peterson.

Rev. A. G. Patterson in his address stressed common sense and asked them to make life ten times larger than their position. "Take interest in the life about you—you yourself will be much happier. Much depends upon your ideals, and take the church of your choice and look to it for your highest ideals."

Greeted with a round of applause Al. Mraz sang and also responded to an encore accompanied by Miss Emily Mraz.

Miss Rosa Anderson, principal of the college, before presenting the diplomas told the class that the college would stand behind them as long as they kept the principles of the college and that they would be free to come back any time in the future to receive advice and the management would be glad to give aid in any way possible. She emphasized loyalty to employers and said that money was not everything. "Be loyal, the rest will take care of itself."

Due to the fact that some of the graduates are employed in distant cities they were unable to attend the exercises. The following received diplomas: Myrtle Hedlund, John Early, Hilfred Erickson, Ruth Phillips, Hildur Finney, Mabel Roberts, Lillian Kotka, Hazel Lind, Cleo Mayo, Mardelle Mraz, Claude Jones, Gladys McKenna, Herman Swartzkopf, Lenore Anderson, Lucille Kampmann, Lillian Johnson, Florence Rhodes, Marye Pulkrabek, Ella Ness, Bertha Slotten, Mildred Pentin, Loretta Barnes.

Announcement was made that on the evening of December 1 in the U. C. T. auditorium, the college students will give an entertainment and social evening to which the public is invited.

As a grand finale to the evening's performance, the Ladies band played a thrilling patriotic selection and as an encore wound up with their first public rendition of "Valencia," the fascinating foreign hit that has been taking the country by storm. The girls played it wonderfully well, leaving a satisfied and grateful audience.

DISCUSSES ROAD IMPROVEMENTS

A. G. "Doc" Rutledge, of Bemidji, Here for Celebration Today

RECALLS EARLY IMPROVEMENTS

Is Secretary-Treasurer of Northern Minnesota Editorial Association

A. G. "Doc" Rutledge of Bemidji, secretary-treasurer of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association since 1908 and former assistant commissioner of the State Immigration Department, was with the Bemidji delegation today.

Discussing highway improvements Mr. Rutledge said: "It was during the annual business meeting of our editorial association at Wadena, January 24, 1919, that C. M. Babcock, state commissioner of highways, gave his first talk on the proposed constitutional amendment whereby the state would construct, improve and forever maintain 7,000 miles of state highways. Senator P. H. McGarry of Walker, chairman of the senate committee on good highways, spoke at the same time and heartily seconded Mr. Babcock's entire proposal. The editorial association adopted a favorable resolution. At that time, F. J. McPartlin of International Falls (now of Bemidji and in Brainerd today) was a member of the house legislative committee on good roads. Mr. McPartlin was the house member of the joint committee of three (Senators Dengre of St. Paul and Cliff of Ortonville were the other members) who drew up the framework of the constitutional amendment which now constitutes the good roads la of Minnesota.

"At Crookston, January 21, 1921, the Northern Minnesota Editorial association, after a somewhat spirited debate, adopted a resolution to the effect that "responsibility for the state's road building program should be centered, and we most emphatically endorse the single commissioner plan of construction and maintenance of the state's highways." At Little Falls, January 23, 1925, Mr. Babcock addressed our association and explained his proposed program, which was for the most part endorsed.

"Members of the Editorial association have a very kindly feeling for Brainerd and her hospitable citizens. On [illegible], we held our 1923 [illegible] Brainerd. We were given [illegible] a wonderful time that the Brainerd outing now is referred to as about the best ever. By the way, Governor Christianson (better known to the 'press gang' as 'Ted' Christianson, editor of the Dawson Sentinel) was a member of the Northern association and participated in that outing."

AT U. C. T. AUDITORIUM

Band Boys Are Preparing for Annual Concert at First of Year

The U. C. T. is sponsoring a dance to be given Friday evening Nov. 19 for the benefit of the Brainerd Concert band, proceeds to go toward paying for new uniforms for the band boys. To those who have participated in former events given by the U. C. T. little comment is necessary as to the success of the coming dance next Friday.

This is the first of several functions to be given this winter for the same purpose and the ticket committee is hoping for a generous response from all who have the welfare of the boy's band at heart.

The band boys have been doing exceptionally fine work this fall, and are already preparing for the coming annual concert to be given soon after the first of the year. This concert will be entirely by the boys, and Director E. A. Page promises something fine in the musical line that will more than please the music lovers of Brainerd.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM TOM SMART

Mayor of Bemidji Appreciates Attending Brainerd's Paving Celebration

EARLY BEMIDJI SETTLER

"We From Bemidji Are Glad we Came," Said Mayor Smart Today

Tom Smart, mayor of Bemidji, who as contractor has built some of the good highways in Beltrami county, was participating in the celebration today.

Mayor Smart located in Bemidji in 1898, when there was no railroad closer than Fasston and Park Rapids more than 50 miles distant. Highways were Indian trails and settlers tramped through the timber toting supplies in packsacks on their backs.

"I am pleased to show my appreciation of our state highways by being in Brainerd today," said Mayor Smart to the Dispatch. "You Brainerd folks are to be congratulated on your get-together spirit in inviting neighbors to come and get acquainted and be your guests. We from Bemidji are glad we came."

Good Food Neglected

It was contended for many years that no country could produce so excellent a macaroni as Italy, because of the species of hard wheat grown there, which is essential to its making. This wheat has a horny grain and contains a large amount of gluten.

However, the hard, flinty wheats of Algeria, of Tangarok, Russia, of Argentine and of the United States, especially the Dakotas, are as rich in the element needed as the best variety of the Italian farms. Durum wheat, therefore, is the pride of the Dakotas—the farmers have almost a monopoly of it.

An expert observer, speaking 30 years ago, said: "It is to be regretted that macaroni, spaghetti and vermicelli do not enter more largely into the dietary of the working classes of America, not less because of their cheapness and the ease with which they may be prepared than because of their nourishing qualities."

Romans Ate Camel's Heels

Roman epicureans had many unusual dishes, some of which have been since revived by modern chefs, but as yet no professional cook has offered a Roman tidbit made from camel's heels. These heels were prepared in potted form and were a favorite dish at Roman banquets.

WHY should I burn Lampert's Peerless Coal?
Because it is a firm hard structure coal that will not break or crumble easily.

You Like Good Hosiery
It Is the Best For All Time
There is one peculiar thing about hosiery, and that is that it does not have to be the highest priced to be the best. True, up to a certain point this is not exactly so, but the main thing in hosiery is to be sure and get those which are well and carefully made from yarns which have the proper strength and texture to secure the utmost of service. These yarns may be silk or lisle or wool, as the case may be, but they must be good.
Take a hosiery like either the Gotham Gold Stripe or Phoenix, which are the two we feel sure are the best of their kind.
They may not be as high as some, but take the numbers we have here and you will find that you will get the utmost of service for the price you wish to pay. Every one an equal value, for what you pay.
Whether you want to pay $1.00 for a well fitting seamless foot hose or if you want a full fashioned hose for $1.50, we have one which will equal anything.
Then if you wish to pay $1.85 or $1.95 you wil find hose in service or serfon weight that are a pleasure to wear and the best for the price you will find.

You Like Good Hosiery
It Is the Best For All Time
There is one peculiar thing about hosiery, and that is that it does not have to be the highest priced to be the best. True, up to a certain point this is not exactly so, but the main thing in hosiery is to be sure and get those which are well and carefully made from yarns which have the proper strength and texture to secure the utmost of service. These yarns may be silk or lisle or wool, as the case may be, but they must be good.
Take a hosiery like either the Gotham Gold Stripe or Phoenix, which are the two we feel sure are the best of their kind.
They may not be as high as some, but take the numbers we have here and you will find that you will get the utmost of service for the price you wish to pay. Every one an equal value, for what you pay.
Whether you want to pay $1.00 for a well fitting seamless foot hose or if you want a full fashioned hose for $1.50, we have one which will equal anything.
Then if you wish to pay $1.85 or $1.95 you wll find hose in service or serfon weight that are a pleasure to wear and the best for the price you will find.

Don't Tell the Wife

BY WILLIAM B. COURTNEY

Copyright 1926 Warner Bros Pictures, Inc.

"DON'T TELL THE WIFE," starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

CHAPTER I.

The Forbes were at it again!

The Randolph Todhunter Forbes, you know, of Park Avenue and Newport and Southampton and the Berkshires and the North Shore. Oh, THE Forbes; the R. T. Forbes—Ranny and Joan (nee Smedthye, of THE Brookline Smedthyes of course), whose dashing elopement of two years before had been the sensation of the high social world, and whose crashing scraps ever since were no less the sensation of the idle rich.

Yes, the Forbes were at it again. Nor the haunting mellow loveliness of the early autumn day, nor the satiny green beauty of the Old Westbury polo field there beside the Jericho Turnpike, could sweeten the vials of ill-married wrath. Or soften those dirty looks, those dirtier words, those dirtiest smiles. Verily, the Forbes were at it again!

"The trouble with marriage," said Joan Forbes in the icily remote tones that married women use in addressing their husbands and their caddies, "is that after the wedding most men become husbands."

"Ha! Ha!" rasped Ranny, swinging off the Turnpike with an unsignaled suddenness that almost scared the spavined horse of an Italian farmer into bolting, and so startled the drivers of at least six other cars that they simultaneously ruined their brakes and their chances of getting to heaven by the impious fervor with which they consigned Ranny to Hades. "The trouble with marriage," he jeered, "is that after the ceremony ALL women shoulders through a door window, grinning with shrewd amusement at the flushed and angry countenances.

"Greetings, little love birds," he chortled. Clay was a bachelor, and forthright. "Late, as usual. Five minutes more and I'd have called play without you, Ranny, much as I'd hate to deprive the Tornadoes of their fleetest back, and the spectators of the sight of their favorite hard-riding and sensational All-America player."

Clay was to referee the afternoon's game—the final in the Westbury Cup Match, in which Ranny's Tornadoes were pitted against the invading Argentines.

"So please cut short billing and cooing, you two—and Ranny come along and select your first mount. You will spare your boy friend for a while, won't you, Joan?" he grinned wickedly.

Even though he was an old friend, Joan glared at Clay with the defensive hostility every married woman harbors toward bachelors. "Take him and lose him—and go along yourself!" she crackled.

"What," asked Clay as he walked away hurriedly with Ranny, inwardly breathing his bachelor's prayer of thanskgiving for single blessedness, "little pebble on the matrimonial sea has rippled sweet Joan's placid surface today?"

"Quit being poetic, chump," gloomed Ranny. "It has become serious. Joan wants a divorce."

"Congratulations!" enthusiastically.

"Congratulations be blowed! I

The farmer glared at the smart looking couple.

become wives. And if there's anything under the sun harder on a guy's good nature than a wife, may I be struck into a pink-eared baboon—"

"You merely lack the pink ears—"

"Any wife is enough to drive any man to drink!"

"Ha! Ha! Now it's my turn to Ha! Ha! You never knew a sober day until you married me!"

"Nor a sorry one!" he mourned, savagely plunging their Lincoln into a parking space of Ford dimension, and jamming his brakes on in time to stop only a scant foot from a chiffony group of affrighted Junior Leaguers.

Joan FELT the knowing glances from the helmeted, booted, and bright-shirted players who were selecting their first chukker ponies, from the grooms who were gingerly walking the blanket-swathed ponies. Yea, even from the wise little ponies themselves.

"Clown," she hissed, her cheeks aflame. "Go right ahead making a public show of your nasty temper. Then EVERYONE"—with a cosmic shrug of her pretty shoulders—"can judge for themselves why I should get a divorce."

"Well, why don't you get it?"

"Hypocrite! You know full well why I don't," Joan stormed. "It's because you're not man enough to provide me with grounds for divorce. If you were half the man you pretend to be, you'd go to Atlantic City with a chorus girl, or let me find you in your pajamas in some art model's studio. But no, you'd rather remain pure but cranky. And talk me to death by inches—"

"If you ever come to your death through talking, it'll be suicide."

Joan's subdued cry marked the climatic height of her inner storm.

"Why don't you give me a divorce?" she gritted.

"So's you can marry that—"

Joan paled suddenly; "Who?" she whispered.

"—that—that worm! I know more than I've been letting on!" Ranny's emotions were getting a bit out of hand.

"What worm?" raged Joan with a bold front, under which she was quakingly wondering if and how he could possibly know.

The boom of a deep voice—a new voice — rumbled in the tensely charged atmosphere of the luxurious limousine. It was Clay Varick, Ranny's chum, looming his fat don't want a divorce. I—I love Joan!"

"Then why do you fight with her all the time?"

"Because I like to fight!" bridling.

"Well," remarked Clay drily, "I know a bit of your career in South American revolutions, in the late European shindy, in many a hard-drinking port, and as amateur heavyweight boxing champion of America. But I was under the impression that you always picked MEN for your opponents."

"Oh, that's always the way with you blasted bachelors. Dragging chivalry in every time a woman is concerned. But save your fattish sentiment in Joan's case — she's worth any three heavyweight champions you can name!"

"Then why not hold up her glove, and acknowledge your better half?"

"I'm afraid it's too late for a graceful surrender," Ranny said heavily, flint-eyed, wan and white around the lips. "For I've discovered that Joan loves another man!"

Clay stopped dead in his tracks on the turf. "Good Lord, Ranny, no—not that!"

Ranny shrugged miserably, silently.

"Who—who is the man?"

"Abner Gratman."

"What? That fortune-hunting shrimp? Why, you could break him in pieces with your bare hands."

"What good would it do me? Only serve to rouse Joan's maternal sympathy — for him." Ranny laughed, ruefully. "She — she doesn't know, yet, that I know."

They had arrived at the temporary paddock, erected beyond one end of the long rectangle of perfect greensward. A fine-looking man stepped forth from the little knot of enthusiasts gathered there.

"Gallop out and show your stuff, Forbes!"

It was Stivner, billionaire lumber magnate, with whom Ranny had been seeking a big business deal. Negotiations were still pending and dubious, but Ranny's business sense was gratified at this friendly interest. "I've got a cool fifty thousand wagered on your side," continued the magnate."

Ranny whistled. Even for opulent Westbury, that was a stiff bet. "With whom," he queried, polite though curious.

"Abner Gratman," declared Stivner.

Early Musical Term

From the end of the Fourth to the Twelfth century neumes formed a system of notation, or pitch of notes. Since no stave existed, they were not notes as we now understand them. They were doubtless accent marks placed over syllables, and consisted of dots, dashes and other hieroglyphics. These were gradually developed into notes.

What is the United Press?

AS you read your newspaper today you note that many dispatches are labelled "By UNITED PRESS," or the abbreviation, "U.P."

The UNITED PRESS Associations is a famous world-wide system for the accurate and speedy gathering of news.

News is transmitted to central points from which it is distributed over telegraph or telephone wires to more than 1,100 newspaper offices in 36 nations.

Sport news, financial news, political news, international news—written by highly trained specialists—sent with amazing speed—vouched for as to accuracy and reliability—form the cargo of this vast importing and exporting business called the UNITED PRESS.

Because of the enterprise of the UNITED PRESS, because of its marvelous facilities extending over the world, because of its prestige and authority and unfailing dependability, the UNITED PRESS newspaper of any city is always a superior newspaper.

This is a UNITED PRESS newspaper—an important fact to remember.
